Join us in marching with other Southeast Conference churches in this year's Atlanta Pride Parade!

For the second year running, area UCC churches will march together in the Atlanta Pride parade. Churches from around the SEC are invited to march together on the parade route joining others in a show of our wide welcome, solidarity, and unity on Sunday, October 13th.

Join us at the formation of the parade starting at the West Peachtree and Civic Center MARTA station before 12:30pm. The parade will begin at 1pm, proceeding down Peachtree Street from Ralph McGill to 14th, then from 14th to Piedmont Park for a total distance of two miles.

Churches are encouraged to wear UCC or UCC congregation t-shirts, and carry signs showing our radical hospitality and inclusion. This year we're encouraging participants and churches to create home-made signs that show affirmation of marriage equality. Once we're there we'll also need help carrying the long banner (pictured above) as well.

The welcome link to participants at Pride is www.ucc.org/atlanta which redirects to www.secucc.org/pride. You can share these links with friends interested in the radical hospitality of the United Church of Christ.

If you are interested in participating in the parade as either a solo participant or a congregation, please click here to send an email to Anna Mitchell Hall, Minister for Spiritual Formation at Virginia Highlands Church.
